

Technical Compliance Auditor in Jetttime

Do you have a passion for regulatory compliance, persistence and at the same time good at explaining your auditees the importance and reason for the importance of Compliance and Safety? If so, please read on... we may have a great opportunity for you to further develop your career. In Jetttime, you are part of a team of dedicated Jettimers and a culture where we value teamwork, long-lasting relations and being good and trusting colleagues. You are part of a company where working across domain when performing many tasks and collaborating with several of our external partners is second nature to all of us.

You work from our Technical division in Dragør within the Copenhagen airport area, and we expect your physical presence in the office in general but offer working from home as a supplement on occasion. Your immediate manager is our Head of Safety and Compliance Unit, and you will be working in close corporation with our Technical Compliance Monitoring Manager. Also, working in an airline and inside the restricted area in the airport means that you must be able to pass the mandatory background check.

Your primary tasks are:

- Performing auditing of Jetttime Continuing Airworthiness Management Organization (CAMO), including (CAMO) contracted & subcontracted organizations and suppliers.
- Performing auditing of Jetttime Part-145 Approved Maintenance Organization (AMO), including (AMO) contracted & subcontracted organizations and suppliers.
- Performing internal training of Jetttime technical Staff (Legislation/Procedures/Safety & Compliance).
- Perform compliance review of technical manuals and procedures.
- Support Jetttime Safety and Compliance Unit (SCU) in safety and compliance investigations as a subject matter expert.
- Technical Compliance Monitoring Manager Deputy.

To succeed in the job, it is important that...

You are a team player and appreciate supporting and offering your knowledge and experience to your colleagues across the company. Having multiple tasks in process at the same time is second nature to you, and since you are a fundamentally structured person nothing falls between two chairs. You master keeping the grand overview of your tasks without losing your good mood. And most importantly, you are committed to your goals, your colleagues and to our company – as we are to you.

Outside of these personal competences, it is an advantage (but not a must) if you:

- Hold engineering degree or are you a B1/B2 Aircraft mechanic and have some experience within the airline industry.
- Speak a Scandinavian language.
- Are legally able to work in Denmark
- Speaks, read and writes English proficiently.
- Have knowledge of relevant Aviation regulations.
- Have aviation auditing experience (EASA Part CAMO and Part-145).
- Understand risk assessment and safety reporting

We offer...

a permanent position in a Danish company operating under Danish legislation and regulations. We have union agreements with all employee groups and take our work environment, culture, and values seriously.

Onboard with Jetttime means being part of a company with dedicated and dynamic colleagues. We expect that you challenge the status quo in a constructive and positive way as a contribution to your own as well as our common development.
